

Quiz answers: Timber joinery and NZS 4211

Posted: 10 February 2020

Correct answers are in bold text.

Quiz

1. What is the simplest way to check that timber joinery is manufactured to NZS 4211:2008?
 - a. Measure window profile sizes and check the designer's plans.
 - b. Locate the identification tag on the door or window frame.
 - c. Contact the manufacturer.
2. Can NZS 4211:2008-compliant timber joinery be used in an extra high wind zone?
 - a. Yes, if has been tested and certified for this use.
 - b. No.
 - c. Only if the homeowner signs a disclaimer.
3. How do you determine the wind zone of a property?
 - a. Using the procedure laid out in NZS 3604:2011 Timber-framed buildings.
 - b. You need to measure the wind levels on site.
 - c. By checking the weather forecast.