

How will these changes make it quicker and easier to build?

Overseas product standards will be incorporated into existing compliance pathways, making it easier to demonstrate compliance in the consent process.

Building Product Specifications

Examples could include:

Fibre cement cladding which conforms to a standard cited in the Building Product Specification.

Deemed to comply

A Building Consent Authority must accept the building work using fibre cement cladding with the Code, provided the work complies with the relevant Acceptable Solution or Verification Method.

New Zealanders can have confidence in these products

- Products standards and specifications included in the Building Product Specifications can be referenced by builders and designers when demonstrating compliance with the Building Code.
- Before a product can be sold in New Zealand, the supplier must provide a building product information requirement disclosure.
- Before a product is specified in a design, designers and specifiers will consider whether it is suitable for the intended use.
